1. What went well:
   - Sprint deadline was met
   - The groups functionality has most its core functionality enabled. All groups member's issues were concerned with groups activities for this sprint.
   - Very good collaboration. The sprints required integration and team members pulled through for one another.
   - Overall a great team effort and effective communication in completing tasks.
   - Daily scrums were more informative compared to the past. This gave realistic feedback and allowed members to help each other to meet their deadlines.

2. Functionality Added:
   - A dashboard with the user's groups has been added. This feature enabled users to navigate the groups they are members of seamlessly.
   - Users can request on-line and face to face meetings, accept or reject requests and view their accepted meetings.
   - The number of groups that a user is a member of is monitored to ensure that they can only join, create and/or accept invitations of no more than 10 groups.
   - Users receive are notified via email that they are invited to join a study group.
   - Joining a group by invitation is enabled through existing members voting yes or no. When a user is invited to join a group, they have to wait to be accepted in by a majority vote.
   - Members of a group can remove other members from their groups.
   - Removed members receive an email notifying them that they have been kicked off the group.

3. Problems Encountered and How they Were Solved:
   - GitHub Issue 131 and 130 which were issued to two members, had similar tasks. The members in question combined the tasks into one Issue and worked on them together.

4. Comments on the process and Progress made:
   - Sprint velocity: 7 days (sprint 7) – 7 days (sprint 8) = 0
   - Comprehensive reviews have been more thorough, estimation of efforts and acceptance criteria's have been evaluated during reviews.
   - Task board are updated routinely. This again has been an improvement for the group and helped with daily scrums and monitoring everyone's improvement.
